STOCK DIVIDENDS RULED BY COURT AS NOT TAXABLE

Internal Revenue Department Considers Re-award of Funds.

Washington, March 8.—Stock dividends may not be taxed as income, supreme court held today in declaring unconstitutional the provision of the 1913 income tax act taxing as income such dividends declared by corporations out of earnings and profits accruing after March 1, 1913.

Under the court's ruling the federal government must refund millions of dollars in taxes collected on stock dividends since the 1913 law became effective. Internal revenue bureau officials said today the exact total of the refunds could not be estimated at this time and that it would not be known until all claims had been filed and computed.

Justice Pitney, in his majority opinion, said a stock dividend "is in essence not a dividend but rather the opposite."

"No part of the assets of the company is separated from the common fund," he said, "nothing distributed except paper certificates that evidence an undivided interest in the value of the stockholders' capital interest resulting from an accumulation of profits by the company, but profits so far aggregated in the company as to render it impracticable to separate them for withdrawal and distribution."

"Far from being a realization of profits of the stockholder, it tends rather to postpone such realization, in that the fund represented by the new stock has been transferred from surplus to capital, and no longer is available for actual distribution."

No income received.
"The essential and controlling fact is that the stockholder has received nothing out of the company's assets for his separate use and benefit; on the contrary, every dollar of his original investment, together with what accrues and accumulations have resulted from employment of his money and that of the other stockholders in the business of the company and subject to business risks which may result in wiping out the entire investment."

SOVIET, LAUNCHING ATTACK ON POLES AND FINNS, REPULSED

London, March 8.—Russian soviet forces have launched attacks against the Poles and the Finns on the western and northern fronts, according to advices received here. In both instances, the soviet forces have been repulsed and the Poles were reported to have launched a counter attack which has pierced the red lines.

Polish units in the line running through the Pripiet marshes south of Broditsk are said to have been under attack at two points, the soviet forces advancing on the north and south of the marshes. It is reported that the Poles last week rejected overtures for an armistice pending peace negotiations, and that the bolsheviki are expected to meet at Warsaw next week to consider the soviet peace terms.

General Skobeleff is in command of Polish and Russian anti-bolshevik forces which have broken through the soviet lines west of Ropila in the Mureman region, south of Leningrad, reports the London Times.
A week ago, a dispatch was sent to Moscow by the Finnish government stating that the soviet forces had never before belonged to soviet Russia, but wished to come under Finnish protection. M. Teittinen, Finnish minister of foreign affairs, said in reply that bolshevik forces had been ordered not to enter that district. He expressed the opinion that the two sides should begin peace negotiations, adding:
"The sooner this is done, the better for Finland."

"Strong Drink and Lots of It," Is New Jersey Man's Platform

The wettest candidate for the presidential nomination in either of the big parties is Governor Edwards of New Jersey, democrat. Practically the only plank in the Edwards platform is strong drink and lots of it.
Governor Edwards got into his present office on a wet platform, and he recently signed a bill passed by the New Jersey legislature legalizing the manufacture and sale of 3.50 beer.
He has the backing of distillers, brewers and other liquor interests.

DUNWODDIE'S PLEA SECURES RELEASE FOR CRAP-SHOOTER

JUDISH GOES TO CHICA-GO PRESUMABLY TO GET MARRIED.

WORD IS AWAITED

Confirmation of Marriage Not Yet Received—Postmaster
Starts Release Ball
Rolling.

Gray-haired Amos Judish, labor-leader and "loaded" dice shooter, as virtually a free man today.
All that remains to be done is liberty is a certificate from some Chicago official that he has kept his promise—has been married.

Concerted efforts of District Attorney S. C. Dunwiddie and Postmaster J. G. Cunningham to secure suspension of the six months sentence pronounced upon him Saturday morning for crap-shooting, were in the main successful.

Rented from Cunningham.
Circumstances which led to Jud-ish's conditional release began Saturday afternoon when Postmaster Cunningham accosted Judge Maxfield in the hallway and asked if something could not be done to free Judish, who had been renting a room in Mr. Cunningham's house at 618 Court street.

The judge said he told the postmaster the sentence would remain unchanged unless District Attorney Dunwiddie made some recommendation and that he would hear the case at 4 o'clock. Cunningham then went to Dunwiddie's office, it is said.

Madison Attorney Here.
In the meantime, Judge Maxfield went to the court room where he found another attorney, one who with Judish signed the muchminded's union notice, another friend of Judish's, and an attorney from Madison who gave his name as Allen Turner.

Conversing with them for several minutes, the judge said "Cunningham and I have had some discussion and some discussion of a special session of court was called. It is not customary to keep the court open Saturday."

Dunwiddie Asks Suspension.
Further talk, pro and con, ended with the introduction of a motion by District Attorney Dunwiddie. The sentence was suspended, as he stated he wanted Judish to get out of town and stay out more than anything else. He told of how Judish had planned to go to Chicago that night and get married. The sentence had disrupted his plans.

The motion was finally granted by Judge Maxfield with the understanding that Judish was to send back official word that he had been married and that he would give his wife $100.00. Judish's marriage had not been received up to noon today.

Not There for Prosecution.
Although Mr. Dunwiddie appeared in court Saturday afternoon he was not present Saturday morning to prosecute the case. He was in the city on Saturday morning that he was "busy" and that as long as the two gamblers had pleaded guilty he did not think it locked up in the municipal court safe. The "six spot" on one cube was loaded with lead while the "race" on the other was plugged with "sevens" come up as fast as "full houses" with a marked deck of cards.

EAST AGAIN DIGS OUT OF SNOW BANK

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Boston, March 8.—Railroads, industries, and community volunteers combined efforts today to restore the passenger and freight transportation between New England by the storm Saturday. A "digging out" holiday was proclaimed in several cities and scores of industries diverted their energies of their employees to the swinging of picks and shovels over railroad ties.

West Situation in Years.
The situation in Maine, New Hampshire, and Vermont was the most serious in many years. Hundreds of passengers were marooned in small towns where trains had been stalled since Saturday night and in some places the feeding of these refugees became a serious problem.

Evangelical Booth Stalled.
In Brunswick, Maine, 500 passengers from stalled trains have been stalled for several days. The main line of the Maine Central railroad, 200 others, including Commander Evangeline Booth of the American Red Cross, Cape Trafalgar, the warship Cape Trafalgar, passengers were stalled all Saturday night and yesterday in an immense snow drift near Dover. Passengers in the Bar Harbor train spent the night in the cars about 17 miles east of Bangor.

Rear Admiral Grant, Who Sank German Ship, Dies

London, March 7.—Rear Admiral Noel Grant, commander of the cruiser Camilla, which sank a German merchant ship, Cape Trafalgar, off the east coast of South America, Sept. 14, 1914, died Saturday, according to the London Times.

Why Troops Hold City Is Paramount

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
London, March 8.—While definite news of allied occupation of Constantinople is still awaited, it is stated in some quarters that this operation is made of the more important owing to information that Mustapha Kemal Pasha, the Turkish nationalist leader, is strengthening his forces in Asia Minor and that Turkish bands are concentrating in eastern Thrace in contravention to the terms of the armistice.

Contradictory Rumors Current.
In the absence of an official announcement, contradictory rumors are current concerning the respective attitudes of Great Britain, France, and Italy towards coercive steps. While it is declared on one hand that the decision to occupy the city was taken collectively and that British troops were chosen solely because they were nearest, another version is that Great Britain took the decision alone and completely surprised France and Italy by communicating it.

French Losses Are Known.
In quarters where this view is held, it is said that the government is not likely to withhold cooperation.
The majority of the soldiers together with nearly 200 members of the Chamber of Commerce will attend the big civic dinner at the Y.
M. C. A. at 6:30 o'clock tonight when it is expected the hotel matter will be discussed along with the chamber's campaign for 300 new members. The banquet is the opening gun of the week's drive in which it is hoped to boost the enrollment up to 1,000.

It was hinted in some quarters today that the hotel goal would be reached during the meeting tonight.
Whether additional subscriptions would be called for from the floor could not be learned.

French Send Reinforcements.
Premier Lloyd George announced in the house of commons today that reinforcements had been taken by the French government to send reinforcements to General Gouraud, commander in chief of the French forces in the east, for the purpose of establishing his position and preventing further attacks upon Armenians.

ALLIED TROOPS ACTUALLY
HOLD CONSTANTINOPLE

Paris, March 8.—Constantinople is actually occupied by allied troops under provisions of the armistice, it is pointed out by the Petit Parisien this morning, which says that city is held by the forces of General Deperay and there are about 15,000 or 16,000 French troops in the city.

In addition there are in Constantinople a battalion of British troops, and there are other British forces in the region of the straits. A British division of the 10th division of the French have a division in western Thrace, the newspaper says.

KAISER'S COUSIN IS ARRESTED FOR SCENE IN BERLIN HOTEL

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Berlin, March 8.—Gustave Noske, minister of defense, has ordered the provisional arrest of Prince Joachim Albrecht of Prussia, cousin of the former Emperor William and Baron Von Platen for an assault upon Captain Roughevin, a French officer with the inter-allied mission in this city, at the Adlon hotel Saturday night.

The assault occurred in the dining room, the prince and his friends urging defiance, and others waving missiles at Captain Roughevin and his party, who had refused to stand while the orchestra was playing
"Die Wacht am Rhein." Captain Roughevin was beaten and his clothes were torn.

Walter Warris Prince.
When the prince entered the Adlon for luncheon yesterday, he was told by the head waiter that he could not be served, and that if he insisted on taking a seat at a table the waiters would strike. Joachim thereupon left the building. It is believed the attitude of the prince is due to the fact that his union which is opposing the reactionaries.

It is not known here whether the prince has taken any action as a consequence of the assault, but it is expected that it will lead to unpleasantness for the German government.

800 REFUGEES ARE PURSUED BY DEATH

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Constantinople, March 8.—Death pursued 800 refugees who fled from Nicosia on the steamer Navajo before they could reach the coast forces after many had died of disease, cold and starvation. The craft arrived here with emaciated and dying passengers.

Eighty-four after leaving port,
the vessel was struck by a bilzard.
Food and coal supplies were all consumed while the Navajo drifted in the Black sea for four days.

Thyphus then appeared on board and the refugees saw the bodies of scores of their shipmates consigned to the coast guard cutter. The passengers arrived here with hands and feet frozen.

Coal Ship, Abandoned at Sea, To Be Beached Soon

Boston, March 8.—The shipping board steamer Guilford, abandoned in a sinking condition yesterday off Nantucket Shoals, was located today by the coast guard cutter Albatross.
A wireless message from the Albatross said that while the coal laden derelict was low in the water, it appeared possible to beach her within a few hours. The steamer Duke took on board the captain and crew of 41.

WET FIGHT BEGINS IN SUPREME COURT

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Washington, March 8.—Legality of several portions of the enforcement act as well as the general question of the constitutionality of the prohibition amendment were in issue in arguments set for today in the supreme court. The question of constitutionality is involved in the original proceedings brought by the state of Rhode Island to have the amendment declared invalid and its enforcement enjoined. In presenting their arguments attorneys for Rhode Island expected to be joined by New Jersey.

Legality of sections of the enforcement act were involved in cases appealed from federal court decisions in New York and Massachusetts.
Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon league, announced he would apply for permission to file a brief in support of the cases, supporting the legality of the enforcement act.

FRENCH LABOR WILL NOT GIVE UP 8-HOURS

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Paris, March 8.—French labor will not relinquish the advantage it has gained through the adoption of the eight hour day, and no backward step will be permitted, says an open letter issued to the French government and parliament by the general federation of labor. Economists and government officials have argued the law prevents the country from competing in foreign markets and production, and little has been done to enforce it. Temporary suspension of the law has been urged, but it appears that the law will be toughly enforced.

It is expected the proposed prohibition law will be reported out of committee in the chamber of deputies this week.

NEWBERRY LETTERS ARE USED IN TRIAL

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 8.—
Letters and telegrams from Senator Thomas H. Newberry and Paul King, his 1918 campaign manager, in connection with the election conspiracy case today. Several hundred of them were introduced in evidence by the prosecution. The case was heard before a jury of twelve men, and before he started their was another batch of character testimony, starting with Clyde R. Webster, a friend of the circuit court at Detroit.

again today by the senate foreign relations committee.

Mother Ends Life in View Of 3 Babes

Beloit, March 8.—A suicidal mother hung by a clothes line from a lamp hook in the corner of the living room. A four months old baby, lying on a nearby couch, cried with the cold. Two of his brothers and sisters tugged at their mother's dress skirt, pitifully trying to wake her from her long sleep.
Her husband and older sons were away from home. Mrs. Gertrude Jacobs' life was ended.

Despondent Over Poverty.
The despondent wife and mother of a little family living at 115 Liberty avenue, was depressed over their straightened living conditions. Life held no future for her. The bonds of a four children family from 4 months to 9 years in age, were not strong enough to aid her fight the battle of life. She could see no future for her children, only privation and distress. Many times had she made the threat to end her life.

Threatened to Take Life.
But neighbors having so often heard her make such a remark considered it only lightly when Saturday night about 10 o'clock she remarked that the clothes rope which she was fingering would be a good rope with which to hang some one.

Frank Jacobs and the 9 year old son had left Saturday afternoon for a visit with his relatives in Monroe.
It was not deatation but a lack of protection which led to the hanging which occurred between 10 p. m. and 1 a. m. Saturday night, according to neighbors, said Coroner John W. May.

Whaley, who was called here Sunday morning, No jury is necessary, said he, the facts clearly indicate suicide.

Privation on All Sides.
The only clothes Mrs. Jacobs had were what she wore. But little food was found in the house. The children were low. Privation prevailed on all sides. The husband is alleged to have spent money going to Monroe for a visit with his relatives, and to buy some warm clothes. These were the facts on which Mr. Whaley based his decision.

The mother did not return until Sunday morning. The fate of the four motherless children is still undecided.

tatives of the railroad brother-hoods and the roads will meet here Wednesday to begin negotiations looking to a settlement of the new demands of the 2,900,000 railway workers. The machinery with which dispute is to be made to settle the dispute is that provided for in the railroad bill.

ing machinery Wednesday was reached at a conference today between Director General Hines and T. Dewitt Cuyler, president of the Association of Railroad executives.

Hines to Withdraw.
After the first meeting Mr. Hines will withdraw and the board will continue with only its official membership.

The brotherhoods will be represented by executive heads of the 15 organizations which have stood together in the demands for higher wages. A committee of nine has been selected by the Association of Railway Executives to represent the corporations.

Long Fight Anticipated.
Speakers on both sides of the controversy anticipate a long draw-out fight. Labor leaders have said repeatedly they had receded as far as their membership with the instructions of their constituents. No senior officials said they would enter the conference ready to co-operate as far as granting wage increases as for the past year.

On motion of Senator Lodge, the senate today took up the debate on all remaining reservations to the peace treaty except those relating to Article Ten and to voting power in the league of nations. No senior officials said they would enter the
conference ready to co-operate as

ARE YOU IN NOW? IF NOT, JOIN.

The drive for an increased membership of the Chamber of Commerce so that there will be a thousand members, is on.

It was started on this morning and will continue throughout the week. If you are not a member this is the time to come in. The Chamber of Commerce is the big, potent power for civic good in the city. This is the time to establish the "Get-there" habit and give the right kind of support and backing to the city's splendid organization.

You need not wait for the letter asking you to join, to reach you. You can beat the mails by calling up and asking that your name be added to your neighbors on the rolls.

THE USE OF THE FAIR GROUNDS.

Any idle property is an economic waste. We waste, we Americans, much time and opportunity and a great deal of ground. We have a fair grounds which but for the few days of the county fair each year are a waste. Janesville has no large park or a playground for the young or the older people. But it has a fair grounds, large, amply arranged to accommodate all these desires for outings. The grounds should be used. Not alone for the fair or for the baseball games scheduled there by the factory teams this year, but every day. There is plenty of room for tennis courts. There should be many of them—a dozen if needs be.

Sprag is coming and with the warm weather the people here will want some place to go. The season should be started off with a great outing at the fair grounds—a field day for the people on May 1. This is the time to begin plans. It should have the backing of the civic societies and the women and men, the schools and all the people.

Never was there more need for utilizing everything useable as this year. We are asking for increased production in all lines and yet we let land and room lie idle. Janesville should be a landing place for aviators. The fair grounds provide a read-made place for this. There should be no hesitation and no delay in this matter. The fact should be established and given wide publicity and the city be placed on the aviation map. With the return of warm weather there will be hundreds of airplanes coming and going and Janesville should naturally be one of the places where they would seek a landing. The day is coming when there will be garages or hangars for the airplanes as well as for the autos, and now is the time to start something.

BRINGING BACK THE BOOZE.

The Gazette a few days ago remarked that neither whiskey nor any other alcoholic liquor would ever be brought back. The saloon is gone forever. Almost at the same time there came from every quarter a number of occurrences which seemed to have made the Gazette's statement premature. The courts were active in decisions, state legislatures were defying the constitution, the constitutionality of the eighteenth amendment was attacked from many points, and there was still continues to be a strong effort to have the national conventions of the parties declare for the right of self-determination as to what is intoxicating, and generally to nullify the amendment. Gov. Edwards, touted as a teetotaler, but with a strong demand for the right of personal liberty and for every state to make its own definition as to what is meant by the amendment, has come into the foreground as a prospective candidate for president.

It might be well for the people to understand who is behind the New Jersey governor. A correspondent of the Chicago News, interviewing Mr. Edwards, was informed that he was deluged with telegrams asking him to run for president. One of those telegrams was signed by the United Societies of Chicago. It said 5,000 were behind him in Chicago. Then Mr. Edwards stated that he "didn't know anything about the United Societies. If they represent the liquor interests in Chicago I don't want anything to do with them." He said he would not be "the tail of the brewers' kite." The poor, deluded Mr. Edwards will find that this is all he is. The United Societies is made up of liquor men only. They are saloonkeepers and brewers and others in the liquor business. And he will find, too, that the agitation for the return of alcohol is fostered and carried on and paid for by these same men everywhere. He will find the brewers, the keepers of places where money can only be made by trafficking in liquor, and all the army that goes with booze, manufacturers whose goods are sold to these people, holders of stock in refrigerator lines whose business is largely the transportation of beer, and the other wide ramifications of the business are together and alone in the fight to bring back booze.

The business men who are not selling liquor do not want it. Ask the merchant; he will tell you that never was business better, or were there more sales made and bills more promptly paid.

And here, too, comes the astute politician, Roger Sullivan of Chicago. Mr. Sullivan is no moralist in politics. He has no delusions and has never been accused of being a reformer. But he knows people and conditions. He tells the Democrats that if they persist in flirting with the wet side of the issue and have any idea

THE CUP AND THE SPORT.

Life offered a prize for the strongest and best. And many there were who went into the test; They scrambled and tussled and fought tooth and nail. Some gave up early, contented to fail. Some fought unfairly, some practiced deceit. Some sought advantage by playing the cheat. And the prize was soon claimed by the strongest and best—

But what of the others who'd stood to the test?

Had they taken nothing at all from the game? By missing the prize they had battled to claim? They'd known the thrill of a struggle worth while. Come up hill and down hill for many a mile. Played fairly, fought truly, and joined in the fun Of a man-to-man contest until it was done; And the prize which life gave to the first of the list Was all, at the close, that the others had missed.

And what of the man who had captured the prize— Was there joy in the cost of the cup or its size? Not a bit! It seemed cheap when the battle was done, And his only delight was the way it was won; 'Twas the fun of the fight and the thrill of the game That made it a trinket worth working to claim. So go to the battle, and though you fall short, Be glad that you've shared in the thrill of the sport. Copyright 1920 by Edgar A. Guest.

Then we cite the constitution and its amendments as above the state jurisdiction as an accepted principle of law. Were it possible for a state to interpret the constitution in any other way, except by its plain letter we might have had a situation in the south following the war, that one state said we can have slavery under certain conditions, another that the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments should be so interpreted that a negro could not vote or exercise any of the functions of citizenship. It would have been as absurd then as Gov. Edwards, who in his vast innocence is unacquainted with the fact that he is being used by the intrenched interests of whiskey and beer, and does not know that the United Societies are former saloon men and members of other liquor organizations, in his attempt to have each separate state interpret the eighteenth amendment. He will discover that the amendment was passed, not as a moral measure advocated by fanatics, but by sound, substantial business interests as an economic necessity. Empty jails, and abandoned work-houses are the loudest voices crying against nullification. Steadier hands at work and the passing of the hobo, more money in the pocket and less temptation to spend money on vice, less crime and more labor, more money in business channels, better homes and less squallor—all these weigh heavily in the balance against the wall from the cobwebby malt vat and the silent, decaying still of the necessity for "personal liberty."

Nor would it be a bad idea to see that the men sent to the national conventions are not of the Edwards stripe. He and the others should read the history prior to 1861, when the slave oligarchy attempted to nullify the constitution and federal statutes. The parallel is rather uncomfortably close.

We have nearly a billion dollars' worth of motor trucks in idleness belonging to the war department. Mr. Baker bought in January and February $600,000 worth of new ones. He does love to see the new wheels go round.

There are about 15,000 left over clerks from half-defunct departments created by the war, at Washington. Some morning all the chair cushions should be removed just as a hint that the occupant is not needed.

Gov. Philipp has recommended the curtailment of highway work owing to the excessive costs. Now would be a good time to cut off a few dozen state commissions and boards in the interest of economy.

Four California women have been sent to the insane asylum after a 24-hour session with the ouija board. Must have been trying to find out who is to be nominated by the democrats at San Francisco.

Europe and Asia have now taken the place of the old-fashioned grab bag so popular once at church socials. So far Great Britain and Greece seem to have the largest fairs, and the best fencers.

The labor problem in the state this year is how to keep the big red barn open and productive of results.

Cuba As a Resort

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN, Director

Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau, Washington, D. C.

Habana, March 8.—Cuba may be said to have been a place of delay this year by reason of her failure to please the women.

She does not cater to her visitors of the housewife as a whole, but she might, either, but a good many of the men who came here this winter and stayed only a few days would have lingered at the scene of a struggle worth while. They'd known the thrill of a struggle worth while. Come up hill and down hill for many a mile. Played fairly, fought truly, and joined in the fun Of a man-to-man contest until it was done; And the prize which life gave to the first of the list Was all, at the close, that the others had missed.

Early this month it was reported that nearly ninety thousand passports for Cuba had been issued in the United States. It seems not improbable that during the whole winter the number of those who had hither will reach a hundred thousand, which is certainly a large percentage of the population to visit a single winter.

Braved Starvation on Train

All of these migrants braved serious difficulties to get here. They starved on the trains, which never carry more than a few hundred passengers. They stood in line at Key West for hours on end to make the purely perfunctory statement that they had braved the income taxes before leaving home, and they paid the outrageous price of about $20 each to travel the 90 miles between Key West and Havana.

This enormous crowd of people came to Cuba impelled by a strong predilection in its favor. And yet the Cuban people have never been crowded at any time this winter. It is far easier to get a room here than at Palm Beach, Miami, or any of the other winter resorts in the states. Havana hotels are said to be able to accommodate only twenty thousand visitors, so presumably there have never been more than twenty thousand here at one time this winter. This means that most of the persons who have come, instead of staying in the season, have stayed only about a fifth of the season. By the same token, Habana has made only a fraction of the money out of her visitors which she might have made.

Cuban Is Polite to Guests

This failure of Cuba to hold her guests as long as she might is not due to any lack of hospitality toward the Cubans. They are eager for American visitors and American money. It has been charged that they are "impertinent" and "disrespectful" toward Americans. No evidence of this could be found. The Cuban, on the contrary, seems to be the most polite, most respectful of men. He meets you with a smile on all occasions, the polished surface of his courtesy literally never cracks. He is not a half of the man you see in the United States, but he is a man, and he is a man who is as polite as you please, insofar as he possibly can.

What Cuba lacks is not a friendly and hospitable attitude toward her guests, but the mechanism necessary for their entertainment, especially for the better half of them. The American who goes to a resort expects to be amused. He expects his hotel to provide him not only with food and shelter of the kind he likes, but also with golf links and tennis courts and a bathing beach and a place to dance and congenial society.

Wants Everything All Ready

If he wants to go fishing or hunting or horseback riding, he expects merely to mention the fact at the desk to be assured that it will be arranged. He does not care to exercise his ingenuity in amusing himself. He expects the hotel manager to supply the means. Palm Beach is a typical product of the rich American's desires. There every minute of his time is provided for, and every day a printed program of the things he may do is placed in his hands.

Now the Cubans will give you food and lodging and a man of their city and that is about all. You can have a drink any time you please, of course, but the man with money does not lack for drink wherever he may be. There is also rubbernecked wagon to show you the city, and a few regular excursions into the country, for the purpose of seeing sugar mills and the like. The races and Jai Alai afford splendid opportunities for gambling, but the Cubans are so good at some that they may be seen in the United States, and the Jai Alai seems to be little better patronized by visitors.

Cuba Is Picturesque

This is not an attempt to disparage Cuba, which is really a charming place. One with an eye for the picturesque and a taste for rooming

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

ROY E. MOULTON

The reason why we are bow-legged is that when we were but a lad, back in dear old St. Joe, Michigan, there came a time in the course of human events when it became necessary for us to raise a bit of coin other than by entering the circus. The reason we were getting out now to explain the various methods of making money in a day, the only one in town, brought the book to the house and a couple of men carried it in. After spending three days committing to memory the title of the book, we started out to sell it. We got a man down at the railroad depot to show us how he carried rucksacks on his back, and we carried the book much the same way, but we shall always feel that it stunted our physical growth at a critical period in our life. We continued to grow, but did not grow any taller. As our legs grew longer they assumed a well defined curve, not being able to grow straight and true. When we were so out of breath that we couldn't put up an argument, and for the reason we sold only one book in three months. In our later years we have often wondered whether our legs would have ever waded through the book. There was a lot of heavy poetry in it. Our conscience has hurt us at times and we have often asked to be turned back to the man. During our long years of residence in New York we have also been on the lookout for the man who would buy the book to sell. We want to point to our legs and say to him: "You made me what I am today. I hope you're satisfied."

Q. What is the distance traveled by a needle in the playing of a large-sized phonograph record? L. O. A. A needle travels 750 feet, or more than one-seventh of a mile, in passing around the grooves of the average 12-inch record.

Q. When was the first lodge of Odd Fellows established in the United States? L. M. S. A. In December, 1826, Solomon Chambers and his son, who were English mechanics from the south of London, organized the first lodge of Odd Fellows, in New York city. It was called the Shakespeare lodge, No. 1, and at the initial meeting had only five members. There are now 150 lodges had been established in New York city.

Q. Which one of the cabinet members has the largest family? B. V. A. Secretary of Labor Wilson has the distinction of having the largest family of the cabinet members. He has nine children—six boys and three girls.

Q. What kind of a dog is most useful in caring for sheep? C. T. A. The Department of Agriculture says that the Scotch collies are the favorite sheep dogs of America. Their tireless watching even at night, their loyalty in the approach of any prowler, and their instinct for keeping the flock together, are of great value. The stray dog is one of the worst enemies of the sheep.

Q. How many Italians were blinded during the World war? A. M. P. A. Italy has about 1,500 blind soldiers. All of these are being trained for useful employment. In addition to having lost their sight, a number of the unfortunate soldiers are without arms or legs. Several ingenious devices have been invented to assist the armless blind soldiers to read. One of these consists of a little pocket battery and a belt encircling the breast and containing small needles. The device plays a record that causes a different needle to prick for each letter and so the blind man can read.

Q. What class of people is disfranchised in Russia? M. P. C. A. The Russian social constitution denies the franchise to the following classes: Persons who employ labor persons who have an income without doing any work, private merchants, trade and commercial brokers, monks and clergy of all denominations; members, employees and agents of the czar's government; persons with an account of mental ailment, or criminal record.

Q. Does the woodchuck hibernate during the winter? N. M. K. A. The woodchuck passes the winter in its burrow, in a lethargic state, going to its hibernation in late September, and often coming out in March, before the snow and cold have ceased, when many starve or freeze to death.

Q. Did the government insure soldiers free of cost at any time during the war? E. C.

A. Families of soldiers who died within 120 days of their enlistment without having applied for government insurance were protected by automatic insurance, and their dependents receive $25 a month for 24 months. This ruling was in effect from April 6, 1917, to Nov. 11, 1918. No money was deducted from the soldier's pay to cover this insurance policy.

Q. Was Leon Trotsky ever in the United States? L. M. G.

A. He was in considerable time in New York during 1917, when he was the principal editor of a Russian socialist paper. When Lenin came into power in Russia, Trotsky returned to his native land and became associated with Lenin in the establishment of the present soviet government.

Q. Were the clergymen of the Catholic church ever permitted to marry? G. S.

A. From the very beginning of the Catholic church it was the custom for those entering the priesthood to renounce marriage. It was not obligatory, and the rule required men, who were already married at the time of ordination, to separate from their wives, was not made until the end of the fourth century when Pope Sixtus forbade the clergy to marry, and ordered the separation from their wives at priests already married. This accounts for the fact that St. Peter, the first head of the Catholic church, was a married man.

LOPSIDED RESULTS IN CHURCH LEAGUE

Overwhelming defeats were handed out in the church basketball league games at the high school Saturday night when the Federated five walloped Trinity 49 to 3 and St. Peter's defeated the United Brethren 29 to 3.

In the Federated game Florn, center, scored 11 field baskets and two free throws and D. Smith made nine field goals. Scoring in the St. Peter's contest was more split up, with Babcock making four, and V. Jersild, Rasmussen and Grubb ringing three each.

The next games will be played at the high school Wednesday night. The contests on Saturday will be played at the "Y." Coach Craig announced today that teams must be on hand to play their games at the scheduled time of 7:30 for the first and 7:45 for the second and that any five which is later than 10 minutes will be forced to forfeit to its opponents under the rules of the league.

PURPLE DEFEATS INDIANA FIVE, 34-32

Chicago, March 8.—By trouncing Indiana, 34 to 32, in the final game of the scheduled Northwestern university basketball season, the Purple team took eighth place in the Big Ten league. A scoring attack at the opening of the second half turned the trick for the Purple after the first half ended with the score 16 all.

From 16 all Northwestern pushed its way to a 7 point lead, and held the advantage until the last five minutes, when Indiana spurred and brought the score to 32 to 32. Dribbling the ball from a far corner Saunders, forward of the Purple five, caged a 25 foot shot as the game ended. Lineup: Northwestern (34): B. F. P. T. CHI WINS BIG TEN BASKETBALL TITLE

Chicago, March 8.—Defeating Minnesota, 53 to 16, in the most lopsided game ever played in Bartlett gymnasium, Pat Page's University of Chicago basketball team won the championship of the conference Saturday. It was the wildest scoring battle of the season, and topped all previous scores in Maroon history. After the game was five minutes old Chicago sat back to rain baskets, scoring three to a minute at one time. Their total was two points short of a point a minute, and if Pat had not been merciful and allowed substitutes to enter the fray, the score might have run over 70 points. Only nine fouls were called in the game.

WILDE-MASON GO AT TOLEDO, FRIDAY

Toledo O., March 8.—Jimmy Wilde flyweight champion, who is to box Frankie Mason of Fort Wayne, Ind., American titleholder here Friday, arrived here today to finish his training. Mason, who is in Chicago, has decided to finish his training there.

The two boys will battle before a capacity house. Ad. Thacher, president of the Toledo A. C., who is promoting the bout, says that more than three-fourths of the 3,200 seats have been sold. Most of the tickets have gone to Toledo and Northwestern Ohio fans. Detroit plans to send a big delegation.

The short visit of Mason here has started the wagering, with Wilde favorite at 5 to 3. Thus far, however, very little money has shown. These odds may change after the same fans have seen Wilde in action.

Ten Reasons Why I Should Join The Chamber of Commerce

1. Because I believe in Janesville and its future.
2. Because I know "UNITED WE STAND, DIVIDED WE FALL."
3. Because the Chamber of Commerce is the GET TOGETHER organization. It means united Janesville.
4. Because in such an organization our little differences and jealousies are buried and submerged in a common purpose—the good of OUR CITY and its people.
5. Because, as a citizen of Janesville, I am individually responsible for my city's future, and I cannot neglect any opportunity for its advancement.
6. Because I know that Janesville has needs, and the way to secure things for any city is through a strong central civic body, such as the Janesville Chamber of Commerce.
7. Because the Chamber of Commerce is a democracy, representative of all classes, professions, trades and interests of the city and its people.
8. Because the Chamber of Commerce can put the city on the map and let the world know what we have to offer in the way of a desirable city in which to live and to bring up a family.
9. Because, as a good citizen, I cannot afford to stand out against the sentiment of my community and not be a member.
10. Because its activities the past two years have entirely justified its existence and it has demonstrated its value to the community by practical deeds.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO Mrs. Thompson, In Care of the Gazette

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I met a fellow last summer and went with him until three weeks ago. During that time we had two quarrels over nothing at all and now he has gone without any explanation and I can't forget him. What shall I do? We were engaged and he was the only one I ever loved.

There is a young man who rides in the same car I do. He is very nice and he told some of my friends he would like to go with me, but he said that when on the car. As it is late year, should I start a conversation, or is it his place to do?

LEAP YEAR GIRL.
You should be thankful that your fiancé proved his faithfulness before you were married. Forget him and realize that he was unworthy. Since he was engaged to you he should not have dropped you so unceremoniously.

Despite of the fact that it is leap year, let the man overcome his bashfulness and become acquainted with you. He would admit you less if you started a conversation with him.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been corresponding with a young man from Missouri for about six months. I picked his name and address up as a soldier's train passed through here. His letter stated he was a soldier. If it is a nice fellow, I answer them soon after I hear from him. He wants to come to see me this summer. Shall I let him come? It is proper to ask him for a picture of himself?

SNOW DROE.
Your method of becoming acquainted was unconventional. Since the young man's letters have proved so satisfactory, however, I can see no harm in letting him come to see you. If your parents understand everything and do not object.

As a rule a girl should not ask a man for his picture. This time it

ETON JACKET IS NEW FOR SPRING

By ELOISE.

Suits with eton and very short box coats are being greatly exploited by the leading designers. There is no reason why they should not be received with enthusiasm. They are new and have charm and they are comfortable for the summer. Their one fault is an uncompromising straightness of contour, and while they are comfortable, they are not flattering to the figure. Thousands of women, there is a doubt expressed in many quarters as to the ability of these abbreviated and jaunty jackets to capture the popular vote.

They will undoubtedly be liked by young girls and many of the simple and sprightly members of the elder set. But with the vast majority of women, to whom a tailored suit represents the most dignified and conservative indulgence of the wardrobe, the medium length coat in one of its various phases will probably be preferred.

Here is one of the newest eton suits. It is fashioned of navy blue cloth with a straight narrow skirt and a heavily embroidered jacket. A broad, beaded girdle of tricotette is a smart finishing touch for this suit. Most of these eton suits need some sort of girle because of the shortness of the coat.

Roman striped sashes or black satin is the most usual, but tricotette is a pleasing variation. Note the short sleeves of the coat, a Parisian touch.

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

Miss Anita Pollitzer, of Charleston, S. C., has the distinction of being the youngest officer of the National Woman's party. She is but twenty-five years old, but she has already had a long career in politica and is said to know more members of congress than any other young woman in the country. She was only recently made secretary of the legislative committee of the National Woman's party.

Her work for some time now has been in line with congressional pressure wherever possible on the legislature's "back home." She has been devoting particular attention to Washington, which was one of the last states to act on the suffrage amendment.

TO SAVE HEALTH OF WOMEN.

Employers of female labor are giving an authoritative opinion as to the number of pounds weight a woman may be safely allowed or directed to lift, according to the recently issued bulletin of the New York state industrial commission.

The question is of interest from two viewpoints, that of the conservation of the health of the worker and the amount of production.

English medical authorities, toward the close of the war, showed considerable anxiety as to the result of strain through heavy lifting upon the woman workers in munition plants. Specific physical injuries and decreased production were both made the study of the statisticians, and the attempt was made to arrive at an average that would serve as a definite ruling.

France, during the war, went into the same matter and decided that the lifting of such standards was unsatisfactory. Some women, it was proved, were unable to do any lifting or pulling with safety, others could do far more than was prescribed by law.

Lifting, pushing and pulling were all considered.

Take, for instance, the twenty-five pounds which is the limit of weight that may be lifted by the woman worker in store rooms, according to

Article 3, Section 53, of the New York state labor law. The worker finds it one thing, however, if this weight is shifted from one bench or prosperity I owe to you, Mr. Green-corn. Yes, I am grateful—very. And now now I am going to prove to you how much I appreciated your trouble and kindness.

And 10 minutes later Mr. Green-corn had signed a contract to buy in installments a sewing machine that wouldn't ring, and a barrel of tapioca that wouldn't lap.

"Now see here, lady, you take it from me—the parties that are pressing this case don't care for publicity any more than you do. Your job is to get into the papers, to say nothing of his serving time for it."

"Serving time?" My God!" broke from her involuntarily.

"Of course he'll serve time if it's proved on him," her visitor assured her.

"That's all I could do to keep my place and not join her and help her the man; but his next words held her listening.

"He'll give back the stones he showed yesterday, or tell where he's hid them. I can get this settled out of court and nobody will be the wiser—if you don't say anything."

"It isn't true!" she cried. "My son never stole a cent's worth of anything in his life."

"Here's the warrant."

"Arrest him if you will, but the law will prove him innocent—if there's law on the land, and I sometimes doubt it."

"But hadn't you better talk to him first? It won't hurt to hear what he has to say, and if it can be arranged on the quiet—"

"I shall not talk to him! Do you think I would insult a man by asking him if he stole diamonds?"

Followed a silence. Then the man's voice. "Well, if you won't suppose you won't. But you'll regret it."

"I won't."

"Then I'll have to do it myself. Which room is he sick in?"

"The third floor back—but you can't go up," and she planted herself across his way.

"I saw his hand reach out and remove hers from the banister and as he passed her she sank on the lowest step and began to sob. I may have counted six when Mrs. Delario whipped into the scene room, my coat on her arm.

"Quick—you must go," she whispered. "You must hide my diamonds."

"Gasp and asked, 'How?'"

"While he's upstairs trying to get into a locked room."

"She was dragging my coat on my arm and saying at the same time, 'It's a fake—that man isn't an officer. I knew it was coming—I saw it clearly when Eugene came here yesterday.'"

"But suppose—"

"She cut me short. 'You can't! He doesn't know you're here! He's breaking in the door and looking for Eugene. I'll have time to telephone the police. Only go—go—go!'"

"She whisked up her skirts as she spoke, pulled the box out of her stocking and thrust it in my hands. 'I'll take the responsibility.'"

"But they're mine—I swear to God they're mine," she cried, evidently thinking the man's words had convinced me that the stones were stolen. "They're all I have in the world. If they're found by these scoundrels they'll be after me. Don't you see it? That man's a thief!"

From upstairs came the noise of pounding on doors and the words, "I know you're here, so you may as well open the door."

I held the box, too paralyzed to know what to do, but Mrs. Delario had her will about her. I didn't open the door, and she ran.

"Quick—your stocking."

"And I whisked up my skirt, even as she had done, and stowed the diamonds in my stocking."

"She pushed me out of the scene room ahead of her and we tiptoed to the vestibule. 'Run,' she whispered. 'I'm going to search for help as soon as you're out of sight.'"

In her hurry to get me off she almost pushed me down the steps. Then she snatched off her thin slipper, and the last glimpse I got of her as I turned the corner showed her running into the crack of the front door to hold it open.

What she did next she told me later, but I may as well put it in here. I was out of sight when the man blustered up to where she stood in the open door, looking up and down the street for somebody to call.

MRS. ALICE McCLUSKEY.
A prominent Lewistown woman, who says she wishes she could have gotten Tanlac twenty years ago, as it would have saved her lots of suffering. Declares she is now well and happy and that she wishes everybody to know about it.

"I have been trying for twenty long years to find a medicine that would overcome my troubles, but my efforts failed me completely until I commenced taking Tanlac," was the remarkable statement made recently by Mrs. Alice McCluskey, residing at No. 66 Park Street, Lewistown, Me., a well-known and most highly respected woman of that city.

"I just feel like I would give the world to meet everyone who suffers as I did and tell them about this medicine. If I could only have gotten Tanlac twenty years ago it would have saved me a lot of suffering and money."

"My principal trouble was indigestion, and for many years I could not eat meat or pastries for I would always suffer afterward. I would most always have a distressed feeling after eating and nothing seemed to agree with me. Then to add to the rest of my suffering, I contracted rheumatism in my shoulders and hips and the awful pains I suffered can never be told in words. This trouble finally got so bad I could hardly walk and my arms pained me so I could scarcely raise my hands to my head. I even had to give up my household and was hardly able to get around at all."

"You can imagine how happy I was when, after taking only a few bottles of Tanlac, I found such a wonderful improvement in my condition. Why? It was just the medicine I needed all the time and I continued taking it until now I am perfectly well again. I can truthfully say that I am enjoying as good health now as I ever had in all my life. I have gained about 14 pounds in weight and can again do all my household without the least trouble. I don't get tired like I did and after doing my work I can get out and walk for blocks and feel just fine when I get back home. I earnestly advise everyone who suffers as I did to take Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Jansville by all leading druggists.

Study Problems Solved

Wild Life of Forest and Field

OUTLINE IS BEST WAY TO MAKE STUDY STICK
By Helen M. Johnson.
Francis W. Parker School.

Remember the time the teacher called on you and "thunked flat." You'd studied that lesson hard, too, but it didn't stick. Well, probably the reason you didn't know it was that you had not made an outline of it.

An outline won't always remember the lesson for you, but it will help you link everything. If you have a framework of study, when you can hang the main facts of your lesson, you are liable at least to know what the teacher is talking about when he asks you a question.

The first things to get in an outline are the main facts or more important topics. In the lesson, let's take the "History Lesson" you had about the early French explorers. There were two of them in the lesson you remember, Champlain and Cartier.

Suppose we take them as the two topics from which to build our outline. We will label Cartier 1 and Champlain 2. Then put down under each the main things they did and label them A, B, C, etc. (in capitals). For A, under Champlain you might say, "Founded Quebec."

The chances are you will have some more information you will want to put down under your statement about Quebec, and label it 1, 2, etc. For instance, you might say, "Was first successful French colony." Then if you have anything to say about the fact of its being the first French colony, put it down and label it (a), (b), etc.

Thus the first part of your outline on Champlain when completed would look like this:

1. Founded Quebec.
2. Was the first successful French colony, because:
(a) The Indians were friendly.
(b) It tapped the fur trading region.

Be sure your statements belong where you put them in the outline. Try to make complete statements and make each one depend on the one before it.

Dinner Stories
"What does my little man want to buy today—milk?" asked the kindly shopkeeper, as the little boy entered.

"You bet I do," was the reply, "but I've got to buy soap!"

"I think," said the solemn professor, "that we shall find a way to communicate with Mars."

"Boy, you hold on about that," replied Dustin Stax. "If you want to get a neat little endowment from me, you devise some reliable means of getting central to connect me with my office."

Every day my favorite pupil used to bring me a beautiful "dinner apple," remarked the woman who used to teach school.

"Splendid custom!" commented the student of education systems. "If students of history in existence, the perpetuation of a teacher might make increases of salary appear less urgent."

Four-year-old Harold was going away on a visit. His mother had been giving him instructions in table etiquette and the general importance of being polite.

His six-year-old sister listened with increasing disdain. Finally, unable to bear it any longer, she said: "Now, mother, if Harold's going up there to act a damn sissy, I'm not going."

"Which is the most delicate of the senses?" asked the teacher.

"The touch," said young Jones.

"How's that?" asked the teacher, and Jones explained: "Well, when you sit on a pin, you can't see it, you can't hear it, you can't taste it, but it's there."

BILLY WHISKERS

By FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

During the morning performance on moving day Billy behaved all right, but in the afternoon he was so excited and anxious to be off that he behaved very badly. He ran around the circus ring so fast that when the monkey jumped through the paper hoops expecting to land on Billy's back, he was beyond him, and the monkey landed on the ground and had to run to catch up. This made the ring master angry and he hit Billy a sharp cut with his whip, but instead of making him behave better he got worse and worse. He would stand still and shake himself until he nearly made the monkey's bones crack, and when the ringmaster hit him, he stood upon his hind legs and the monkey had to cling to his horns to keep from falling off. When Billy found he could not throw the monkey he ran for the pole in the center of the ring that supported the tent, and tried to climb it, but the monkey was too quick for him and dodged every time. At last Billy tried rolling with him, but this the ring master would not allow, as it would ruin the saddle strapped to his back. He gave him a few good cuts with the whip that stung like everything and this turned Billy's wrath from the monkey to him, and like a shot he was up and after the ring master.

where he gave him a butt that sent him flying to the other tent.

Billy was punished for this and told he should have no supper, and he understood what they said, at least he did not suppose he did.

"All right," he thought, "no supper, no performance, for I won't behave and take my part unless I am fed. But I will find something to eat even if it won't feed me, for a goat can eat almost anything from tin cans to apples."

The man who had tied Billy had scarcely gotten out of sight when he commenced to chew his rope in two and when it dropped apart, Billy walked over and commenced to eat the elephant's food. This the elephant did not like. He told Billy to stop and eat his own supper, but Billy would not, neither would he take the elephant's food. He explained to the elephant that he hadn't any supper and was expected to go supperless. Now if he had only told the elephant, who had always been a good friend of his, he would gladly have given him part of his supper; but Billy was in a contrary mood and would say nothing, but kept on eating. This provoked the elephant, so he quietly wound his trunk around Mr. Billy and lifting him from the ground, he took him to the top of the lion's cage that was standing near. Billy was more surprised when he found himself standing on top of the lion's cage than he had ever been in his life, but only for a minute, for he jumped down and disappeared through a tear in the canvas of the tent. As he ran away he heard all the animals laughing, though you might have called it the lion's roar and the hyena's call, and above all the racket he heard the head animal keeper asking what all this racket was about, and although they all tried to tell him by each giving his particular call, he was too stupid to understand a word of it, so lost all the fun of the joke.

(Tomorrow Billy spoils another performance.)

WATERLOO GETS SECOND POSITION

Madison High Gets Cup by 12-8 Score--University High Given Third.

(By MORRIS ROOD)
Whitewater, March 8.—Playing a fast defensive game against last season's winners of the Whitewater Normal basketball tournament, the Madison City high school basketball team took first honors in the Whitewater tournament Saturday winning from Waterloo 12 to 8.

Starting the game with a rush Madison soon led the scoring by four points. During Waterloo's center with a spirit that had not before been displayed in the tournament, Waterloo made two field goals during the first period, but the Madison team ended the first period, Score: Madison 8, Waterloo 0.

Great Defensive Work.
The opening of the second half was featured by continued defensive work on the part of the Madison team. Waterloo and Madison both exerting efforts to hold the other scoreless. Two field goals, one by Gunderson, Madison right forward, and the other by Schultz, center, ended the scoring for the Capital City five.

Doering, the tall Waterloo center, was the only player who began to break in the scoring column. Close guarding prevented him from successful field goals. Two free throws was the extent of Waterloo's scoring in the second half.

Cup to Winners.
A large silver loving cup, the prize awarded the winner of the tournament by Whitewater Normal, was given to the Madison team directly after the final contest by President Haver of the Capital City. Acknowledgment of the gift was made by Gunderson, captain and left forward of the Madison quintet.

Individual watch jobs in the shape of a silver basketball with the inscription "Whitewater Tournay 1920" were given to each of the Waterloo team. Second place, and University High for third place.

The University boys were at their best all adding in hitting the score. The Waterloo center, was the chief scorer for the Port, ending two field goals and a free throw. Gunderson, Elson and Myers were goal getters for the Madison quintet.

A Memorial Day Tribute
To all the men who served in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps of the United States we modestly make this suggestion:
On the thirtieth of May, Memorial day, let every man who wore the United States uniform get it out of the attic, press it, and put it on, let him wear it from sun to sun in solemn tribute to the nation's dead.
If this is done the United States will see the greatest pageant that has ever been witnessed by five million men in the uniform of their country, more than ever were in America at any one time during the war.
It will not be a pageant of mil-

Great Meeting Held on Local Track Twenty-Five Years Ago

Reminiscence horsemen of Janesville and vicinity are recalling the great meet that was held on the track of the Janesville driving park 25 years ago, in July, 1895. In speaking of it, D. W. Watt, an old follower of the horses, not only here but on some of the biggest tracks of the country, says that it was the greatest harness meeting in the west when 150 entries raced for eight days.

Record Is Made.
It was at that session that Joe Patchen, despite a strong wind blowing down the backstretch, went the mile in 2:04 1/2 in an exhibition race. His run was 30% for the first quarter, 1:02 1/2 for the half, 1:33 1/2 for the three-quarters. Stutgen and Southberry were matched for a race, but the latter was taken sick and could not be shipped from Danversport. The purse was $2,000.

At that meeting, Monroe Salisbury of California shipped 12 head of the fastest pacers and trotters in the country in a private car to join the fastest flesh sent here from the Blue Grass of Kentucky. George Fuller of Lexington had a string of eight head. His son, George, Jr., brought six from another Kentucky stable.

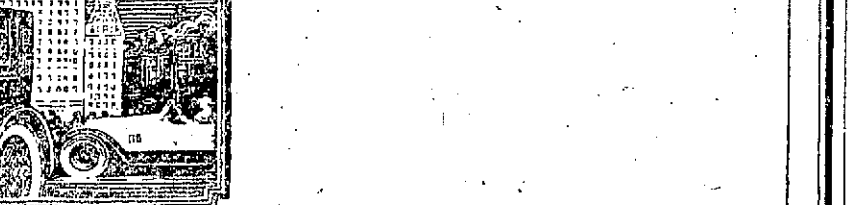

Backed the Meeting.
Among the local men who backed the meeting, all of whom are now dead, was H. D. McKinney, whose barns were on the east of town and who lived when the new Parker Pen factory is being erected. Another was O. P. Nowlan, a prominent contractor, who built the capitol at Madison. Then there was Olin H. Pethers, associated with the law firm of Jeffris and Mout, and Emory Gleason, a prosperous farmer of Prairie du Chien.

SHOOT AT ARMORY FOR PRIZE TONIGHT
A shoot for all-comers will be held at the armory tonight under the auspices of the local national guard company. A prize of $5 will be given to the man making the best score. Yesterday's shooting of the Janesville rifle club on the armory range showed an average of 182.1 for the ten high men. The scores:

Ryder 190
Held 189
Nott 189
Goodsell 188
Church 188
Hansen 182
Schwegler 176
Osborn 175
Dixon 171

MARINETTE FORWARD EXPELLED WHEN 'PRO' CHARGES ARE SIFTED

Forward Peterson of the Marinette high school basketball team has been expelled from the five on being found guilty of professionalism. Charges were made by the Green Bay high.

As a result of the decision, Monroe high school, which lost to Marinette on February 20 by a score of 23-21, has been awarded a victory of 100 to 1. In that game Peterson was the chief scorer with four field baskets.

(Sporting Editor's Note.—This should be a lesson that professionalism has no place in amateur sports and particularly school athletics. Moreover, it should teach that it is impossible to "get away with it," for sooner or later it will be discovered. Furthermore, if the coach of Marinette knew that Peterson was a professional, he, too, should be disallowed and not permitted to manage any high school team.

Amateurism and professionalism do not mix. Honesty is the foundation of sportsmanship. The minute any one injects any other spirit into fair play, he endangers not only himself but places his team in jeopardy of losing public support.)

LAWRENCE COLLEGE BEATS MILTON, 18-14

(By Special Correspondent)
Milton, March 8.—Lawrence college defeated Milton college here Saturday night 18-14. The score at the end of the first half was 17-7. In the final period Milton displayed great defensive tactics holding Lawrence to a single point, made on a free throw and added seven points to their own score. Both teams played long shots with attempts to catch them off the backboard.

In a preliminary game the Milton Junction high school defeated Stoughton high 19-14. Both teams were crippled, Milton's star forward having a broken ankle and Stoughton's captain out of the game because of a school ruling.

GHARRITY'S ACT CAUSES DECISION

Commission Rules New Fairy Player Repudiated Contract with Senators.

Tampa, Fla., March 8.—President Clark Griffith, of the Washington club announced Saturday that the national commission had ruled that no club associated with organized baseball would be permitted to play the Beloit, Wis., team. The national commission, Griffith said, took this action when the Washington club complained that Player Eddie Gharrity had repudiated his agreement with Washington so that he could play on the Beloit team.

"Nothing to it," Griffith said. "The Fairbanks-Morse athletic association stated over the telephone today that the ban placed on the Pirates by the national commission is nothing new. The commission has been doing just that for the last two or three years," he stated. "It is an attempt on their part to stop us from drawing their players. As to Gharrity, he tells me that he had no contract with Washington and therefore has not returned to sign up for this season, he returned them with the explanation that they were not satisfactory. We just laugh at them, that's all."

Manager Al Chubb of the Fairy pine was out of town and could not be reached.
